

Abstract

A method and a device for triggering a restraining device in a vehicle, at least one parameter that is representative of the probability of a collision of the vehicle with an obstacle being determined and the restraining device being triggered when such a collision probability is recognized. The intensity of the triggering of the restraining device is a function of the value of the at least one parameter.

(Figure 4)